Presentation

This course has been specially designed for all non-lawyers who want to learn the basics of Public Law. In particular, this course is compulsory for non-law graduates applying for the Master's programme in Public Law. The syllabus has been structured to give students a general and unitary overview of that area of law so that they are better prepared for the study of Public Law subjects. Classes will preferably be held in person and the content taught will follow a theoretical-practical method.
