Presentation

The Master's Degree in Painting at the Department of Cinema and Media Arts aims to follow on from undergraduate degrees in related areas and deepen artistic knowledge and practice. This training proposal allows for authorial development and critical understanding of theories and practices underlying art and painting, from an interdisciplinary perspective. The artistic project to be developed is fundamental to the objectives of this course: competitive specialization and integration into the arts system, professionalization, the exercise of academic research. The teaching team is active in the art scene, namely as artists, curators, critics and mediators, and guarantees excellent training.
